

MiFID II product governance / Retail investors, professional investors and ECPs – Solely for the purposes of the manufacturer’s product approval process, the target market assessment in respect of the Warrants has led to the conclusion that: (i) the target market for the Warrants is eligible counterparties, professional clients and retail clients, each as defined in MiFID II; (ii) all channels for distribution to eligible counterparties and professional clients are appropriate; and (iii) the following channels for distribution of the Warrants to retail clients are appropriate - investment advice, and portfolio management, and non-advised sales and pure execution services, subject to the distributor’s suitability and appropriateness obligations under MiFID II, as applicable. The product is incompatible for any client outside the positive target market identified above. Any person subsequently offering, selling or recommending the Warrants (a “distributor”) should take into consideration the manufacturer’s target market assessment; however, a distributor subject to MiFID II is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Warrants (by either adopting or refining the manufacturer’s target market assessment) and determining appropriate distribution channels, subject to the distributor’s suitability and appropriateness obligations under MiFID II, as applicable.

The key risks with regard to Natixis Structured Issuance's structure and operations are set out below:

1° Natixis Structured Issuance is exposed to the credit risk of its counterparties in its activities. Due to the inability of one or more of its counterparties to comply with its contractual obligations and in a context of increasing defaults by its counterparties, Natixis Structured Issuance could suffer financial losses. In addition, it is to be noted that Natixis Structured Issuance is mainly exposed to Natixis' group entities and as a result, a default by these entities could result in significant financial losses due to the ties maintained by Natixis Structured Issuance with Natixis group counterparties as part of its ongoing activities.

The statutory auditors' reports on the annual historical financial information of Natixis for the financial years ended 31 December 2019 and 31 December 2018 do not contain any qualifications.

The key risks with regard to Natixis' structure and operations are set out below:

1° Natixis is exposed to the credit risk of its counterparties in its activities. Due to the inability of one or more of its counterparties to comply with its contractual obligations and in a context of increasing defaults by its counterparties, Natixis could suffer financial losses of a greater or lesser magnitude depending on the concentration of its exposure to those defaulting counterparties;

2° Financial markets' fluctuations and high volatility may expose Natixis to the risk of losses in relation to its trading and investment operations;

3° If Natixis fails to comply with applicable laws and regulations, Natixis could be exposed to heavy fines and other administrative and criminal sanctions likely to have a material adverse impact on its financial position, business and reputation;

4° Natixis is exposed to risks related to the environment in which it operates, and the COVID19 pandemic might have a significant negative impact on its financial and economic environment, which could adversely affect its financial position, its results and more generally its activity; and

5° In the context of its insurance activities, Natixis is exposed mainly to asset impairment risk (fall in the equity or real estate market, widening spreads, interest rate hikes) as well as the risk of lower interest rates which would generate insufficient income to meet its guaranteed principal and returns.

What are the risks that are specific to the Warrants?

The risks that may affect the Warrants issued by Natixis Structured Issuance and guaranteed by Natixis are the following:

General risks

1° Holders of Warrants (the "Warrantholders") could face a risk of volatility, which refers to the risk of changes in the value of the Warrant, as well as any difference between the valuation level and the sale price of the Warrants on the secondary market. Events in France, Europe or elsewhere could cause volatility in the secondary market of the Warrants, and the resulting volatility could have a negative impact on the trading or sale price of the Warrants.

2° The Warrants involve a high degree of risk, which may include, among others, interest rate, foreign exchange, time value and political risks. Prospective purchasers of Warrants should recognise that their Warrants, other than any Warrants having a minimum expiration value, may expire worthless. Purchasers of Warrants risk losing their entire investment if the value of the Underlying does not move or evolve in the anticipated direction.

3° Warrantholders may suffer losses should Natixis undergo a resolution proceeding pursuant to European regulation establishing a framework for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms and the texts transposing these rules into French law (the "BRRD regulation"). If a resolution proceeding were to be initiated by a competent authority, the Warrantholders could face non-settlement or settlement at an amount lower than the amount expected.

4° In the event of the settlement of the Warrants before maturity in the event of illegality, changes in taxation, force majeure event, significant alteration event or certain additional disruption events applicable to the Warrants in accordance with their terms and conditions, the Warrantholders will receive an amount equal to their fair market value in the event of settlement prior to maturity. The fair market value payable in the event of early settlement may be lower than the amount that they initially anticipated.

5° The Issuer shall pay the cash settlement amount due in respect of the Warrants in the settlement currency. This may pose a risk if an investor's financial activities are substantially processed and denominated in a currency or monetary unit (the "Investor's Currency") other than the settlement currency and the exchange rates vary significantly (for example, in the event of the devaluation of the settlement currency or the revaluation of the Investor's Currency).

6° The Issuer enters into hedging agreements (the "Hedging Agreements") to cover the risks related to such Warrants and in particular changes in the price, value or level of the relevant Underlying(s). In the event of a change in law, it may become unlawful for the Issuer to hold, acquire, exercise or dispose of such Hedging Agreements. If the Calculation Agent determines that an additional disruption event has occurred, the Issuer may settle all Warrants early at the early settlement amount which is an amount determined to be the fair market value of the Warrants based on the market conditions prevailing at the date of determination taking account of the additional disruption event, minus the reasonable costs to the Issuer and/or its affiliates or other entities affected by the Hedging Agreements of unwinding underlying Hedging Arrangements, all as determined by the Calculation Agent in its discretion.

7° The Calculation Agent in respect to the Warrants has the discretionary power to make the calculations, observations and adjustments set out in the terms and conditions of the Warrants and the amounts determined or calculations made by the Calculation Agent may affect the value and the settlement amount of the Warrants in a way that is unfavourable to investors. The decisions of the Calculation Agent may also result in an early settlement of the Warrants.

8° In the case of events affecting an administrator of a benchmark or a benchmark, the Calculation Agent could make adjustments to the terms and conditions of the Warrant (the “Conditions”) or decide the early settlement of all the outstanding Warrants (without the consent of Warrantholders).

These adjustments may not be effective in reducing or eliminating the economic loss to investors.

Furthermore, the application of any adjustment decided by the Calculation Agent could affect the performance, and consequently the nature, of the Warrants.

Finally, in case of an early settlement, investors may face non-settlement or settlement below the amount that their expectation.

9° The interest rates and market indices considered "benchmarks" are governed by regulatory guidelines and reform proposals at the national and international level. Ongoing reforms could have effects on the continuation of some benchmarks, which, may not be maintained. In addition, the reforms could also impact the functioning of benchmarks. It will be necessary to adapt their rules of determination and calculation. Such changes might have a material adverse effect on the settlement amount and the value of Warrants whose settlement amount is indexed to that benchmark.
